

Biennial Economic Development Corporation Report 2014-2015

Glenn Hegar
Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts

November 1, 2016

The Honorable Greg Abbott, Governor
The Honorable Dan Patrick, Lieutenant Governor
The Honorable Joe Straus, Speaker of the House
Members of the Texas Legislature
Texas Economic Development Corporations

Fellow Texans:

I am pleased to present this biennial report of the activities of economic development corporations in Texas, as required by the Development Corporation Act of 1979, as amended.

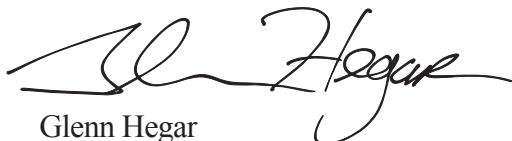

Each year, development corporations are required to submit a one-page Economic Development Corporation Report to the Comptroller. Our office then compiles two years of this information into a biennial report presented to the Legislature on or before Nov. 1 of each even-numbered year.

City sales tax revenue dedicated to economic development totaled $709.7 million in fiscal 2014 and rose to $737.9 million in fiscal 2015. This sales tax continues to be the state's primary local revenue source for economic development.

The Comptroller's Data Analysis and Transparency Division appreciates the cooperation of the staff and governing boards of the economic development corporations as well as city officials who were instrumental in gathering and reporting the required information. We commend them for their dedication to the important task of creating and maintaining a strong climate for economic development in their communities and in our state.

This report is available on our website at comptroller.texas.gov/transparency/reports/economic-development-corporation/2015.pdf. I hope you will find this report helpful.

Sincerely,

Glenn Hegar

Executive Summary

The Comptroller's office administers the economic development sales tax program and offers various economic development tools and resources to assist businesses, local government entities and economic developers in improving the Texas economy.

The Data Analysis and Transparency Division supports Texas local governments with their economic development efforts. The division offers technical assistance, informative publications, webinars and workshops on tax-related state and local economic development programs administered by the Comptroller's office. The division collaborates with other state agencies to offer accredited training to economic development professionals, including the Basic Economic Development Course and the legally required Economic Development Sales Tax Seminar.

The Comptroller's website, Comptroller.Texas.Gov, provides a wealth of information on state and local finances and numerous other tools and data sources to support economic growth in communities throughout Texas. It's a one-stop center providing key statistics affecting the Texas economy, including economic updates, forecasts and more.

Due to the agency's role as administrator of the economic development sales tax programs, the Legislature charged the Comptroller's office with compiling this report each biennium.

History of Type A and Type B Economic Development Corporations

Since the 1979 adoption of the Development Corporation Act, Texas law has allowed cities to form economic development corporations (EDCs) to attract businesses and create job opportunities. The Legislature amended the act in 1989 and again in 1991 to allow eligible cities to adopt dedicated sales and use taxes to fund EDCs. In 2009, the act was re-codified as Chapters 501 through 505 of the Local Government Code. Since 2009, EDCs formerly known as 4A and 4B corporations are now called "Type A" and "Type B" corporations, respectively.

Reporting Requirement

In 1997, the Texas Legislature required EDCs to begin reporting their financial activities to the Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts. In each even-numbered year since 1998, the Comptroller's office has prepared a report for the Legislature summarizing the data submitted by EDCs during the preceding biennium. State law requires all Type A and Type B corporations to file an annual report with the Comptroller's office by Feb. 1 of each year, providing data from the previous fiscal year.

In December of each year, the Comptroller provides email notice to all known Type A and Type B corporations, including cities that held successful elections for the adoption of one or both sales taxes in the prior year. The notice contains an electronic access code and instructions for filing the report.

The act restricts the report form to a single page in length (Appendix L). To improve reporting efficiency and accuracy, existing EDCs may file electronically only via a secure website with a unique log-in code that changes annually. New Type A and Type B corporations may file their reports by mail, email or fax. The form and the reporting history for each EDC may be viewed at mycpa.cpa.state.tx.us/edcr/EdcrSearch.jsp.

The Type A & Type B Sales Tax Data and Analysis

EDCs filed 714 reports for fiscal 2014 and 723 for fiscal 2015 (Appendix A and Appendix B). Total corporation revenue for the biennium rose by 21.8 percent, to nearly $2.1 billion; expenditures rose by 16.2 percent, to more than $1.7 billion.

This report provides a statewide analysis of the EDC revenue, expenditures, capital assets, economic development objectives and year-end fund balances for fiscal 2014 and 2015. In addition, appendices arranged by corporation type and city name provide the detailed data reported by each EDC.

Sources of Funds

In fiscal 2014 and 2015, sales tax was the major source of revenue for both types of EDCs (Appendix F and Appendix G). These receipts totaled $709.7 million in fiscal 2014 and accounted for 72.5 percent of all EDC revenues. Sales tax receipts rose to $737.9 million in fiscal 2015, but their share of total revenue fell to 68.0 percent due to a sharp increase in bond proceeds/loans obtained. Sales tax proceeds increased a combined $28.2 million or 4.0 percent from fiscal 2014 to fiscal 2015.

The second-largest revenue source for all EDCs in fiscal 2014 and fiscal 2015 was bond proceeds/loans obtained. This category’s receipts rose by $64.1 million or 38.4 percent from 2014 to 2015. Type A EDCs increased their revenue from this funding source by $13.4 million or 12.4 percent from fiscal 2014 to fiscal 2015, while Type B corporations saw a much sharper increase, with receipts rising by 86.1 percent or nearly $50.7 million.

Funds from all revenue sources for Type A and Type B EDCs rose by a combined $106.0 million or 10.8 percent from fiscal 2014 to fiscal 2015. Type A corporations saw an increase in revenue of only 1.5 percent or nearly $6.2 million, while Type B EDC revenues rose by $99.8 million or 17.8 percent (Exhibit 1).

Exhibit 2 illustrates the relative importance of various revenue sources for Type A EDCs by city size as a percentage of total corporation revenue. The significance of sales taxes as a revenue source was primarily affected by changes in the amount of revenue gained from bond proceeds/loans

What is the Type A Sales Tax?

Type A sales tax revenue is essentially limited to funding industrial and manufacturing facilities, research and development facilities, recycling facilities, distribution centers, small warehouse facilities, military facilities, job training, targeted infrastructure, regional or national headquarters facilities, business airport facilities and port-related facilities. Expenditures for targeted infrastructure must be related to an authorized activity under the act.

The statute also allows a Type A EDC to undertake most Type B projects without having to change its status. To do so, the city council must publish notice, hold a public hearing and obtain voter approval. Voter approval is not required if the Type A EDC is located in a city that also operates a Type B corporation and has a population of 7,500 or fewer. At the end of fiscal 2015, 218 cities had adopted the Type A economic development sales tax.

What is the Type B Sales Tax?

A Type B sales tax offers greater flexibility in purpose than Type A. Generally, allowable Type B expenditures include not only those available under Type A, but also projects that contribute to the quality of life in the community, such as park-related facilities, professional and amateur sports and athletic facilities, tourism and entertainment facilities, affordable housing or other improvements or facilities that promote new or expanded business enterprises that create or retain primary jobs. At the end of fiscal 2015, 505 cities operated Type B economic development corporations.

Cities must seek voter approval to levy a Type A, Type B or both types of economic development sales taxes. A city that adopts either or both must establish an economic development corporation to administer and oversee the expenditure of sales tax proceeds. A board of directors appointed by and serving at the pleasure of the city’s governing body oversees the EDC. A city must deliver sales tax receipts derived from the sales tax for economic development to the EDC upon receipt of the funds from the Comptroller’s office. The corporation’s board of directors is responsible for all decisions regarding the use of these revenues and the projects undertaken. The city council, however, retains final oversight authority and must approve of all EDC programs and expenditures.

obtained. For example, in cities in the three population categories of fewer than 30,000, sharp declines in bond proceeds/loans obtained led to corresponding increases in the percentage of revenues attributable to sales tax. Conversely, for the two population categories above 30,000, significant revenue increases from bond proceeds/loans obtained resulted in substantial declines in the share of revenue resulting from sales tax.

Exhibit 3 shows revenue sources for Type B EDCs as a percentage of total revenue, again by city size. As with Type A EDCs, bond proceeds/loans obtained had a substantial impact on Type B revenue. Other revenue is a significant factor as well, as Type B EDCs often operate facilities with rental and ticket revenue. From fiscal 2014 to 2015, the share of total revenues attributable to sales taxes increased in the three city size categories for populations of fewer than 30,000. In the case of EDCs located in cities with populations of 5,000 or fewer, the increase was almost entirely attributable to a decline in bond proceeds/loans obtained of 5.3 percent; a 1 percent decline in other revenue was a minor contributing factor. In EDCs located in cities with populations of 15,001 to 30,000, the effect of a 5.5 percent increase in other revenue helped reduce the impact of a 9.8 percent decrease in bond proceeds/loans obtained.

The change in revenue in these two categories was most notable in EDCs for cities with populations of more than 75,000. In fiscal 2014, they accounted for only 5.8 percent of revenue. These categories rose to account for 33.9 percent of total Type B revenue in fiscal 2015, while the impact of sales tax fell from 93.1 percent to 65.3 percent.

Expenditures

In fiscal 2014, 714 Type A and Type B EDCs reported total expenditures of $841.3 million (Appendix H and Exhibit 4). Expenditures reported by the 723 corporations in fiscal 2015 rose by 7.7 percent to more than $906.1 million (Appendix I and Exhibit 4).

Type A and Type B EDCs, and both combined, all reported increases in expenditures for personnel, marketing and promotion and affordable housing from fiscal 2014 to 2015. Type A and Type B EDCs saw divergent trends for each of the remaining expenditure categories. From fiscal 2014 to fiscal 2015, for example, Type A EDCs increased expenditures for direct business incentives by $12.7 million, job training by about $700,000 and capital costs by $26.4 million. Type B corporations, by contrast, reported decreased expenditures in all three categories.

It's often useful to examine expenditure categories as a share of total expenditures to see the ways in which categories are shifting in relation to one another. Type A EDCs, for instance, expended a much larger percentage of their total expenditures on direct business incentives than did Type B corporations (Exhibit 5). In fiscal 2014 and 2015, the difference was 17.2 percent and 22.8 percent, respectively. On the other hand, Type B EDCs spent a significantly larger percentage of expenditures on capital costs than Type As. The margin in this category favored Type B EDCs by 16.8 percent in fiscal 2014, narrowing to 7.0 percent in fiscal 2015.

The percentage of funds expended by Type A and Type B EDCs by category varied significantly among cities of different sizes (Exhibits 6 and 7). Both Type A and Type B corporations generally report a lower percentage of expenditures for personnel as city size increases, likely due to the increased efficiency of larger organizations.

The share of total receipts spent on direct business incentives is generally higher for Type A EDCs than for Type Bs.

In fact, Type A EDCs reported spending a higher percentage of total expenditures on direct business incentives than Type B corporations in all city population categories except for cities with populations of 5,000 or fewer. Type B EDCs exceeded Type A corporations in capital cost expenditures as a share of total expenditures in fiscal 2014 in each city population category. The result was nearly the same in fiscal 2015 except that Type A EDCs located in cities with populations of 5001 to 15,000 and those with populations of 15,001 to 30,000 spent a larger percentage of funds in this category than the Type Bs.

Type A and Type B corporations differed regarding expenditures for debt service considered as a share of total spending. Type B EDCs in cities with populations of 5,001 to 30,000 exceeded Type A spending in each fiscal year. Conversely, Type As in cities with populations ranging from 30,001 to 75,000 spent a greater share than Type B EDCs in both fiscal years. During fiscal 2014, Type A EDCs in cities with populations of 0 to 5,000 and more than 75,000 spent a greater share for debt service than Type B EDCs. In fiscal 2015, their positions flipped, with Type Bs spending a larger share of the total for debt service in both size categories.

State law caps marketing and promotional expenditures by both EDC types at 10 percent of annual revenues, except under certain circumstances. The limit is 25 percent of revenues for a Type A city that:

- has municipal limits including two counties;
- has fewer than 24,250 residents, according to the 1990 Census; and
- that is located within 10 miles of a federal military reservation.

The reports for fiscal 2014 indicate that 22 of the 214 Type A EDCs spent more than 10 percent of their revenues for marketing and promotion. Seven Type A EDCs exceeded 20 percent. Of the 500 Type B corporations reporting in fiscal 2014, 54 exceeded the 10 percent threshold and 26 exceeded 20 percent of revenues (Appendix J).

In fiscal 2015, 21 of the 218 Type A EDCs reported marketing and promotion expenses above the 10 percent cap, with seven exceeding 20 percent. For the 505 Type Bs reporting that year, 52 exceeded the 10 percent limit and 25 exceeded 20 percent.

The average expenditure for marketing and promotion for Type A corporations was 3.3 percent of total revenues for both fiscal years. For Type B EDCs, the average was 1.7 percent of total revenues in fiscal 2014, rising to 2.0 percent in fiscal 2015.

While most Type A and Type B EDCs appear to be complying with the limitation on marketing and promotional expenses, the act does not require an EDC to prove it qualifies for an exception to the statute, or provide any penalty for those that exceed the limit.

It also should be noted that some EDCs exceeding the statutory limit may have carried forward unused revenues budgeted for marketing and promotion from previous fiscal years. Attorney General Opinion GA-0086 states that

2015 Legislative Changes

Only one bill signed into law during the 2015 Legislature has a statewide impact on the economic development sales tax.

H.B. 157 authorizes a city to hold an election to reallocate sales tax revenue within the 2 percent local sales tax cap.

The new law allows a city to assess its funding priorities and reallocate the distribution of its general and dedicated sales taxes so long as the total local tax rate does not exceed 2 percent. H.B. 157 essentially removed caps on dedicated sales taxes, including the sales tax for EDCs, and authorizes a city to hold an election to increase or decrease them in increments of one-eighth of 1 percent.

For more information about the authority and responsibilities of Type A and Type B corporations, refer to the Comptroller's office publication #96-302, Economic Development Sales Tax, available at comptroller.texas.gov/economy/docs/96-302.pdf; or contact the Comptroller's Data Analysis and Transparency Division at (512) 463-4679.

...a corporation that chooses to spend revenues for promotional purposes may spend up to 10 percent of its annual revenues for that purpose or may set all or some of these funds aside in a promotional purposes account. A corporation that set aside revenues in such an account could spend those past year revenues along with the allowable percentage of its current annual revenues for promotional purposes without violating the cap.

Primary Economic Development Objectives

In fiscal 2014 and 2015, most EDCs listed more than one primary economic development objective (Appendix C), with only slight variations in selections between fiscal years. Job creation and retention was the preferred objective for Type A EDCs. Type B corporations selected infrastructure projects as a slight favorite, followed by job creation/job retention. Sports facilities/recreation and tourism were popular third and fourth choices for Type B EDCs, while relatively few Type As selected these categories (Exhibit 8).

Types of Capital Assets

Appendices D and E report capital assets for fiscal 2014 and 2015. Of 723 EDCs, 565 reported capital assets in fiscal 2015. The most common capital asset was land, including both acreage and lots, reported by 339 EDCs. Other capital assets included "other" (192), buildings (164), industrial parks/sites (129), equipment (129), commercial buildings (127), and recreational facilities (87). (The total number of reported assets exceeds the total number of corporations because many reported owning more than one asset type.)

Type A and Type B corporations diverged slightly in capital assets. In fiscal 2015, 177 or 81.1 percent of the 218 Type A EDCs reported owning capital assets, compared to 388 or 76.8 percent of the 505 Type Bs. This disparity could be the result of some Type B EDCs expending funds

Corporation Fiscal Year

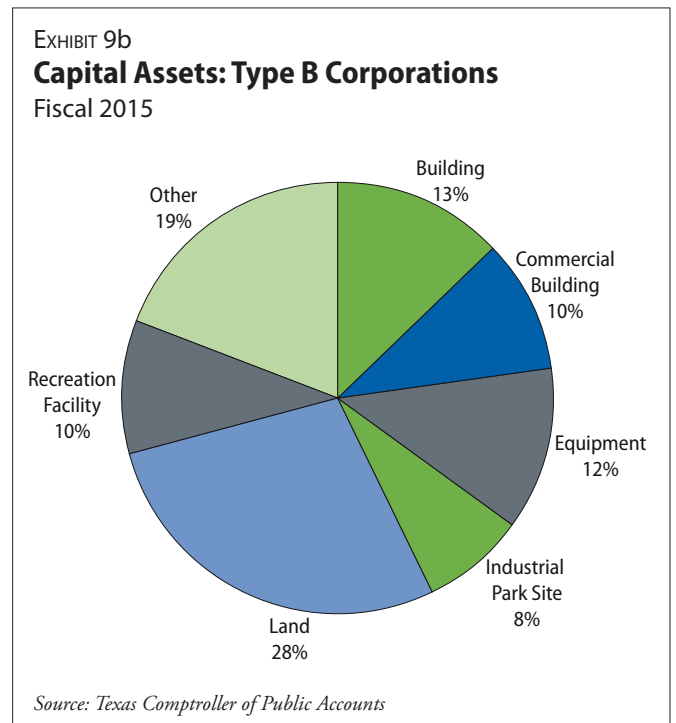

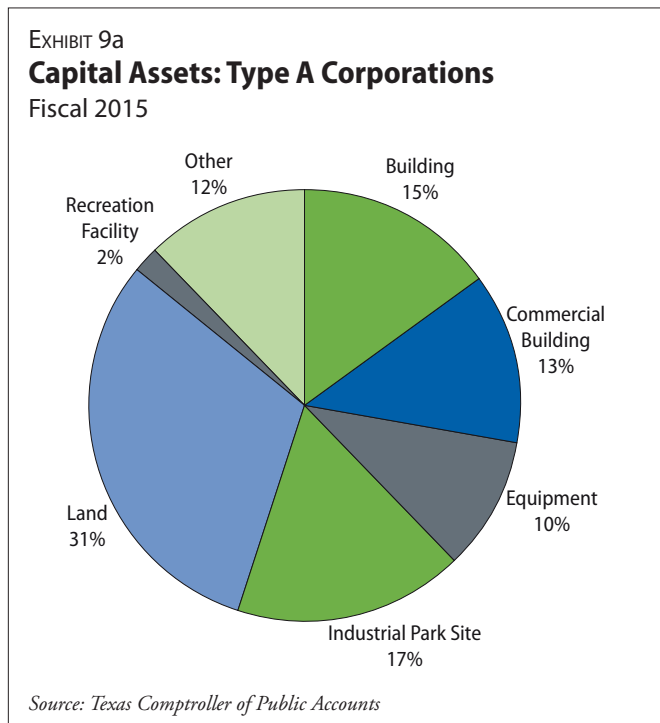

Most EDCs adopt a fiscal year corresponding to that of their sponsoring city. Of the 723 corporations reporting in fiscal 2015, 654 (90 percent) listed Oct. 1 through Sept. 30 as their fiscal year. Nineteen (3 percent) listed the calendar year as their fiscal year; 20 (3 percent) listed July 1 through June 30. Thirty EDCs adopted other fiscal years, accounting for the remaining 4 percent.

for assets transferred to the city upon completion, such as park-related projects. In such cases, the capital asset would belong to city rather than the EDC.

Exhibits 9a and 9b show assets owned by the two types of corporations in fiscal 2015. The largest disparity is found in categories pertaining to the ownership of real property. Ownership of industrial parks/sites was much more common among Type A EDCs, with 17 percent reporting EDCs of this asset class compared to only 8 percent of Type B corporations. Type A EDCs also had greater shares in the categories of land and commercial buildings. Type Bs reported greater percentages than Type A in the categories of recreational facilities, equipment and “other.”

Corporation Fund Balances

Beginning in fiscal 2006, the Comptroller asked each corporation to report its year-end unrestricted fund balance or unrestricted retained earnings (Appendix K). These are funds that have not been formally designated by the board of directors for a project or other expenditure during the fiscal year. Fund balances may carry over from year to year and may be positive, negative or zero, depending on the EDC’s accounting method.

In fiscal 2014, the 214 Type A EDCs reported fund balances totaling $496.5 million. This total increased to $510.6 million for the 218 Type As reporting in fiscal 2015.

The 500 Type B corporations operating in fiscal 2014 reported fund balances of more than $567.8 million. For fiscal 2015, 505 Type B EDCs recorded year-end fund balances totaling nearly $668 million.

In all, Type A and Type B EDCs reported fund balances totaling nearly $1.2 billion at the end of fiscal 2015.

Growth of the Sales Tax for Economic Development

As many Texas cities reach the 2 percent local sales tax cap, growth in the number of new Type A and Type B corporations has slowed. Exhibit 10 shows how the number of EDCs has changed since 1997.

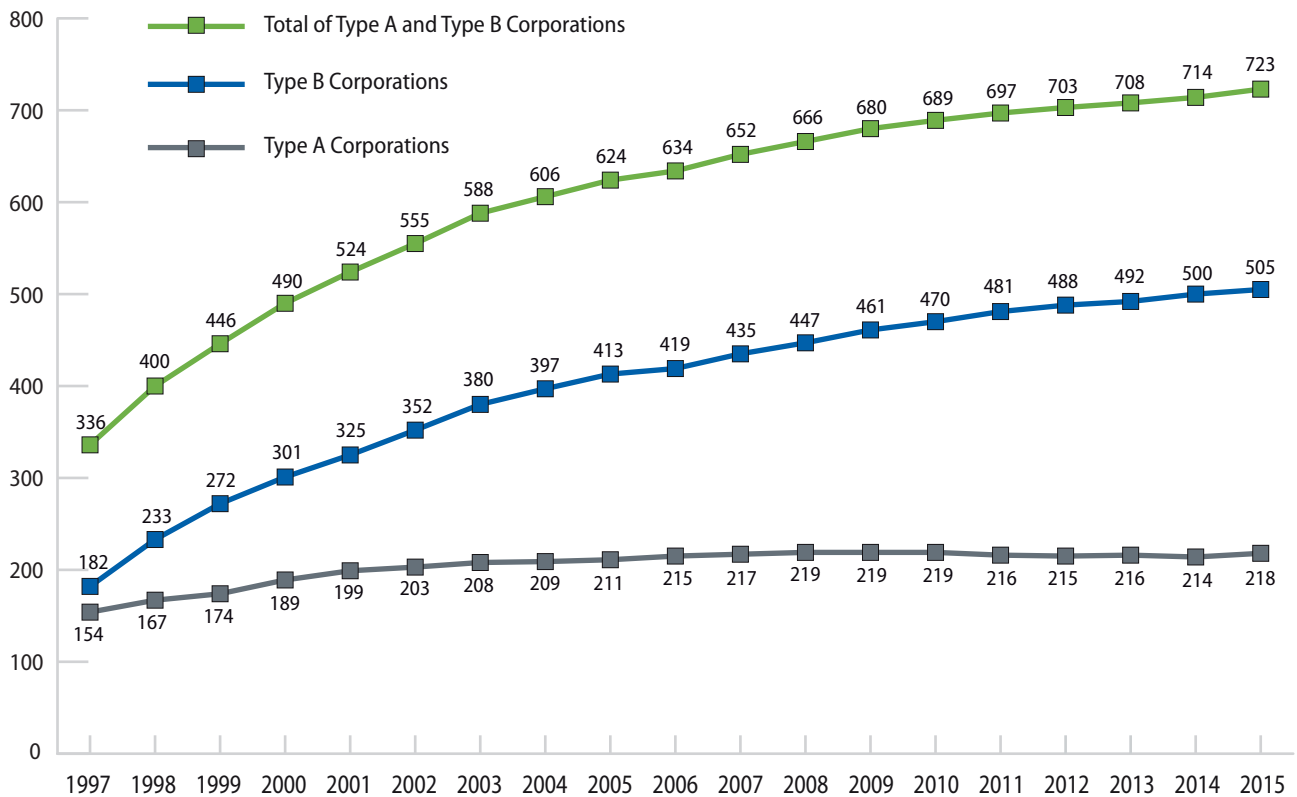

Between fiscal 1997 and fiscal 2015, the total number of EDCs rose by 387, for an average increase of 21.5 per year. Of the increase, 323 were Type B corporations, an average of 17.9 new corporations per year. For Type A EDCs, the average change was 3.6 per year, for a net increase of 64 corporations.

One factor affecting the rate of increase in the number of Type A and Type B EDCs is competition from other types of sales tax. Sales tax ballot initiatives may take place up to twice annually if initiated by either a city council or upon a successful petition by registered voters. The result may be the abolition of any local sales tax to reduce the local tax burden or to impose a different type of local sales tax.

On April 1, 2014, for example, the city of Palmview abolished a Type A corporation, while the city of Malone abolished a Type B. Each city replaced the 0.5 percent EDC sales tax with a municipal development district sales tax. On April 1, 2015, the city of Lake Dallas abolished a 0.5 percent Type A sales tax and replaced it with sales taxes for property tax relief and street maintenance and repair at rates of 0.25 percent each. On the same date, the city of Clifton reduced its Type B sales tax from 0.5 percent to 0.25 percent and imposed a street maintenance and repair sales tax at a rate of 0.25 percent.

By the end of fiscal 2015, 370 Texas cities had adopted the sales tax for property tax relief; 228 had done so for street maintenance and repair; 29 had adopted a sales tax for municipal development; and 10 imposed a sales tax to fund construction of sports or community venues.

If filing online, please go to www.texasahead.org/edcreporting and enter your eight digit temporary access ID number which is printed at the top of this form, or return the form in the postage paid envelope provided. You may also complete and FAX this form to 512-475-0664 no later than the due date.

Please provide your email address, where indicated, to receive a filing confirmation receipt.

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Please provide the begin and end date of the development corporation's fiscal year for this reporting period. (e.g., 10/01/2014 to 09/30/2015)
2. Please check the corporation's primary economic development objective(s). Check all of those that apply.
3. If the corporation uses governmental or not-for-profit fund accounting, enter the unrestricted fund balance. If the corporation uses any other method of accounting, use the unrestricted retained earnings or the equivalent. Unrestricted fund balance and retained earnings are fund balances or retained earnings that have not been formally designated by the board of directors for special purposes, such as future capital projects.
4. List the total revenues for the corporation for the preceding fiscal year. Exclude in-kind contributions. List only revenues actually received by the corporation.
5. List the total expenditures during the preceding fiscal year in each of the following categories. If categories overlap, place the dollar amount only in the category that most closely applies. Use the following definitions to guide you in listing the expenditures. Include the total expenditures at the bottom of the listing.

Personnel - Include expenses for salaries, wages, and related employee benefits provided for all persons employed by the corporation. Employee benefits include employer contributions to the retirement system, insurance, sick leave, severance pay and similar benefits.

Administration - Include expenditures by the corporation including contracts for services, car expenses, rent, supplies, employee training and utilities.

Marketing and Promotion - Include any costs used to promote and market the economic development area. (i.e., brochures, advertising, direct mail, printing expenses, trade show expenses.)

Direct Business Incentives - Include grants, cash, land, sales tax rebates, loans, job training, infrastructure development, loan guarantees, rent subsidies and other incentives.

Job Training - Include payments for job training offered through a business enterprise.

Debt Service - Include interest and principal payments on debts of the corporation.

Capital Costs - Include outlays that result in the acquisition of or additions to fixed assets owned by the corporation and not provided as a direct business incentive. Examples may include park, recreational and entertainment facilities.

Affordable Housing - Include any expenditures related to the acquisition or support of affordable housing.

Payments to Taxing Units - Include any payments to municipalities, counties, school districts or other taxing units.

Other - If other expenditures are included, please list the expenditures in the space provided.

6. List the corporation's capital assets excluding office equipment. Include land, buildings, industrial parks, recreation/ sports facilities and other facilities.
